

SERVICE ME

Celebrity Chic

So you're not the famous person you'd imagined you'd be when you first made your way to LA so many years ago. That's okay; deep down, you know you're still a star. And you'd look the part, too ... if you could only get the celeb discounts, personal wardrobe stylists and a luxury town car to whisk you to all the hottest boutiques where sales people eagerly await your arrival with champagne and a private dressing room. Good news—with her new service, StyleChic (www.stylechicla.com), celebrity stylist Aly Scott has now made the celeb experience accessible to “regular” people on almost any budget. Scott's team will customize a package for your personal needs, evaluate the items you already own and help develop your personal style. They'll take you to the best stores in LA, teach you how to wear the newest styles without looking like a fashion victim and use their connections to get you those ever elusive celeb discounts. Completing your star treatment, you'll receive a SWAG bag filled with serums and cosmetics. In addition, guests at The Fairmont Miramar Hotel can now opt for any of StyleChic's three Shop in Style packages ($500-$1,500) being offered for chic jet setters. At the end of the day you'll look so good people will wonder who you are ... but you'll know—you're a star. — AIMÉE BAKSHANDEHPOUR
